Population

The information provided refers to banking groups and stand-alone institutions resident in Portugal for the period between 1990 and 2019. For tables Balance Sheet Statement (QA1), Income Statement (QA2), and Solvency (QA3), the data was compiled on a consolidated basis, whereas the remaining tables aggregate the information of the resident Other Monetary Financial Institutions (except Central Bank) belonging to a banking group.

The coverage of financial institutions varies depending on the data table.

The Balance Sheet Statement (QA1), Income Statement (QA2), and Solvency (QA3) tables includes the institutions that are subject to Banco de Portugal's supervision, namely the Other Monetary Financial Institutions (OMFIs) since 1990 and institutions that have been part of the banking system since 2008. These institutions are contemplated in the Legal Framework of Credit Institutions and Financial Companies ("Regime Geral das Instituições de Crédito e Sociedade Financeiras - RGICSF"). The number of institutions that are part of the banking system has varied over the past decades.

The tables of Loans to Customers (QB1) and Interest Rates (QB2) include resident institutions (except for the central bank) that are covered by the Monetary and Financial Institution Statistics ("Estatísticas Monetárias e Financeiras - EMF"). The aggregated data is obtained by aggregating individual institution's information on their activities carried out in the national territory.

The table of Human Resources (QC) contains a total of 69 entities, considered to be banking groups on a consolidated basis.

The table of Branch Network (QD) covers a similar group of institutions as the Human Resources (QC) table, corresponding to an average of 28 institutions per year, with a maximum of 35 (in 1999) and a minimum of around 20 institutions from 2012 onwards.

The institutions covered by Human Resources (QC) and Branch Network (QD) are members of the Portuguese Banking Association ("Associação Portuguesa de Bancos- APB"). The aggregated data is obtained by aggregating information of the individual institutions that make up the banking group.

<sup>3</sup>Conditions for data access for external researchers are detailed in the Guide for Researchers Using Banco de Portugal Microdata Research Laboratory (BPLIM) Data.

The table of Payment Systems (QE) is constructed based on information on payment systems and instruments reported to the Banco de Portugal’s Payment Systems Department, under the Interbank Clearing System (SICOI).

Methodology

The Historical Series of the Portuguese Banking Sector data is collected and assembled by a working group at Banco de Portugal which was established at the end of 2017 with the objective of constructing historical series on the Portuguese banking sector. The SLB database covers the period from 1990 to 2019 and the data is available at yearly frequency. For some tables (i.e., i.e., balance sheet, income statement, solvency, loans to customers, and interest rates), the data is also available at quarterly frequency. However, it should be noted that the data period and the availability of the data frequency differ according to the data table, the variable and the institution under consideration, which leads to some breaks in the series.<sup>4</sup> For example, interest rates between 2003 and 2010 are collected based on a sample, which explains the missing observations during this period of time.

Table 1 - Tables and Data Period

QA1	Balance Sheet	Yearly	1990-2019
QA1	Balance Sheet	Quarterly	2001Q1-2019Q4
QA2	Income Statement	Yearly	1990-2019
QA2	Income Statement	Quarterly	2001Q1-2019Q4
QA3	Solvency	Yearly	1994-2019
QA3	Solvency	Quarterly	2009Q1-2019Q4
QB1	Loans to Customers	Yearly	1990-2019
QB1	Loans to Customers	Quarterly	2001Q1-2019Q4
QB2	Interest Rates	Yearly	1997-2019
QB2	Interest Rates	Quarterly	1997Q4-2019Q4
QC	Human Resources	Yearly	1990-2019
QD	Branch Network	Yearly	1990-2019
QE	Payment Systems	Yearly	2000-2019

Despite the efforts of maintaining the greatest possible coherence over time, we shall still note some series breaks in the data caused by changes to supervisory information reports, to accounting practices and/or to the perimeter of banking groups, i.e. mergers/acquisitions between banking institutions.<sup>6</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Please refer to the section Description of Variables for more details.

<sup>5</sup>The yearly date reflects year-end information, except for interest rates which are computed as the average of the quarterly interest rates.

<sup>6</sup>Please refer to the “Historical Series - Portuguese Banking Sector 1990-2018” report for

Some important changes in accounting procedures that have caused series breaks are the following:

- the introduction of the International Accounting Standards (IAS) in March 2005 requires financial institutions to value a substantial share of on-balance-sheet assets in securities at market prices, in contrast to the former valuation at the purchase price;;
- the standardization of prudential reporting at European level (COREP) from 2014 onward has led to significant alterations in the definitions underlying the main solvency ratios;
- the introduction of IFRS 9 in January 2018, in addition to other changes, results in a major change in the impairment calculation method from an incurred loss model towards an expected loss model.

In order to be able to build retrospective series, the data is constructed based on the more recent financial reporting standards (FINREP). This decision was also made to facilitate future updates of the data and to ensure compatibility with the most recent analysis of the banking sector.

Solvency indicators were chosen with the objective of maintaining the highest consistency across the entire period. In particular, the implementation of the new prudential reporting system at the beginning of 2014 through Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) No 680/2014, known as COREP, resulted in a set of methodological changes in the calculation of own funds. The continuity of the series was guaranteed, by matching the concept of base own funds according to the previous reporting system to Tier 1 capital in COREP, thus keeping the latest terminology, and total capital in line with both reporting systems. Given the recent introduction in the regulatory framework, an option was made not to include in the database the concept of Common Equity Tier 1 capital (CET1), which could not be retroplated for earlier periods (prior to 2014).

The detailed solutions adopted to ensure a single format over the entire period are documented in Historical Series - Portuguese Banking Sector 1990-2018

Description of Files

The Historical Series of the Portuguese Banking Sector Database (SLB) is organized by frequency and information type. Each row corresponds to a financial institution in a given year or quarter.

The data files are organized with the following nomenclature:

SLB_METH_fBNK_XXX_MMMYY_yyyy_version.dta

where METH denotes the method used to prepare the data (“A” for Anonymized and “P” for Perturbed), f denotes the data frequency (Y for yearly frequency; Q

for quarterly frequency), xxxx denotes the data range (eg: 19902019), MMYY denotes the extraction date (eg: OCT20), and yyyy denotes the table (QA1 for Balance Sheet Statement; QA2 for Income Statement; QA3 for Solvency; QB1 for Loans to Customers; QB2 for Interest Rates; QC for Human Resources; QD for Branch Network; QE for Payment Systems), version denotes the data version (eg: V01).

All files contain a unique bank identifier (bina) allowing the matching of the different types of information by bank. Whenever possible, labels are applied and value labels are attributed to all categorical variables. To preserve confidentiality, identification of institutions are anonymized through unique identifiers (i.e., bina) and the variable values are perturbed for external researchers.

Useful Ado Files

We provide an ado file written by BPLIM staff for researchers to implement the matching of the Historical Series of the Portuguese Banking Sector (SLB) which reports consolidated information with the Central Credit Responsibility (CRC) database which reports individual-level information.

mergecrcslb

Description

`mergecrcslb` is a Stata user-written command to help Create linking ids for financial institutions in the Central Credit Responsibility (CRC) database for the purpose of merging with Historical Series of the Portuguese Banking Sector (SLB). By default, the ado should only be applied to the original CRC datasets (bank-firm level or exposure level) prepared by BPLIM.

Syntax

mergecrcslb bankvar timevar

where `panelvar` is BPLIM's anonymized bank identifier and `timevar` identifies the time variable (monthly).
